America's Arch Support Experts

WEARING AND CARE INSTRUCTIONS

Prepare Your Shoes

- Remove your shoe's insoles, or extra padding
- Do not damage or tear the lining of the shoe bed if glued
- Insert Good Feet Arch Supports, placing Good Feet cushions over the top of the arch supports

Wearing Your Good Feet Arch Supports

The adjustment period is as individual as you are. While some Good Feet customers experience immediate relief and comfort, others may take a little longer to feel the results Good Feet Arch Supports are designed to provide. It is not uncommon for one foot to take longer than the other to adjust during this time.

Starting your first day, wear your Strengtheners 30 mins, then switch to your Maintainers for approx. 1 hour, then to your Relaxer the rest of the day. Each day add more time wearing your Strengtheners and Maintainers, and less time in your Relaxers. In time you will adjust into each support, being able to wear any of them all day.

During your break-in period, you may feel some minor muscle aches or discomforts; however, if you experience prolonged discomfort, redness or irritation, stop wearing the supports and contact your Good Feet Arch Support Specialist, an adjustment may be needed. If you experience pain that causes concern, stop wearing the arch supports and contact your doctor.

Strengtheners

- Repositions feet to their ideal position
- Distributes body weight, can relieve pain
- Provides the most support and stability
- Supports all four arches
- Best in closed toe, laced shoes

Maintainers

- Maintains arch infrastructure established by Strengtheners
- Supports all four arches
- Designed for most athletic activities
- Lower profile fits into a variety of shoes

Relaxers

- Reduces arch support adjustment time
- Gently supports feet
- Supports three arches
- Perfect for sandals, slippers, flats and other tight-fitting shoes

Youth Arch Supports

- Regularly re-fit to keep pace with child's development
- Pay close attention to your child's feet during the adjustment period

Discontinue use with pain, and consult your salesperson or pediatrician depending on the severity.
